

Supplementary Figure 2: Protein-protein interaction network constructed using genes that were prioritised based on evidence of potential involvement in a genetic predisposition to neonatal encephalopathy with suspected hypoxic ischaemic encephalopathy (NESHIE). Protein products of the input set of genes are represented by blue nodes. Additional direct and secondary interactors of the input set are represented in grey.